Editor Refuses to Say If He Is Communist

By HERBERT FOSTER

WASHINGTON (UP) — New York Times Copy Editor Robert Shelton today refused to tell Senate investigators whether he is a Communist. He accused them of threatening freedom of the press and invading his rights.

Shelton, who said he has been a copy editor for one and one-half years and previously served as a copy reader, did not invoke the Fifth Amendment when Counsel J. C. Southerland of the Senate Internal Security subcommittee asked if he is a Communist.

Instead, Shelton read a long statement which said he is a loyal American but added: "this subcommittee is nudging the end of my copy pencil, it is pecking over my shoulder as I work."

"This subcommittee is engendering the fear that soon it will be looking into news rooms all over the country," he said.

In refusing to state whether he is a Communist, Shelton invoked the First Amendment, which guarantees press freedom and challenged the authority of the subcommittee to question him.

Subcommittee Chairman James O. Eastland (D-Miss.) overruled Shelton's objections and ordered him to answer under the threat of a contempt of Congress citation. Shelton still refused.

Shelton appeared before the subcommittee after Sen. Thomas C. Hennings, Jr., (D-Mo.) objected that the subcommittee serves no useful purpose in "unburdening" witnesses like New York Times Reporter Clayton Knowles, who testified Wednesday that he was a Communist on another newspaper from 1937 to 1939.

The New York Times charged in an editorial yesterday that it had been "singled out" for attack by the subcommittee because of its editorial policies.

In advance of today's session Eastland insisted the inquiry is aimed at no publication in particular but that "no newspaper is immune." He has said he is only investigating the general problem of communism in the newspaper profession.

Democrats Feel Outlook Is Not Bright

By WILLIAM F. ARBOGAST

WASHINGTON (UP)—Several Democrats concerned with the nation's defenses cautioned today against Eisenhower's view that "the outlook is bright with promise."

Such misgivings were not shared by Republicans. Many of them concurred with the statement of House Minority Leader Martin of Massachusetts that Eisenhower's report to Congress yesterday on the State of the Union demonstrated a "clear understanding of the festering danger of Communist intrigue."

Sen. Russell (D-Ga.), chairman of the Senate Armed Services Committee, said he is "not quite as optimistic as Eisenhower" as to the adequacy of our defenses. Senate Democratic Leader Lyndon B. Johnson of Texas said, "Most Americans know... that the international situation is one of deep concern."

Russell's House counterpart, Chairman Vinson (D-Ga.), of the Armed Services Committee, wouldn't comment for publication.

Neither would Speaker of the House Rayburn (D-Tex.) express his reaction to Eisenhower's statement that "our security posture commands respect." Our defenses have been reinforced at sharply reduced costs... In the face of communist military power, we must, of course, continue to maintain an effective system of collective security."

Rayburn stood by his comment of last Tuesday that: "I am not happy about our foreign relations as things stand. The general situation in the world is not good."

Chairman Cannon (D-Mo.) of the House Appropriations Committee, which scans all defense spending, said:

"The United States is in the greatest danger it has ever been in. I thought the President should have said there could be no tax cut until we have an adequate national defense. We do not have it now. We have the most alarming reports of military progress Russia is making. There is only one country Russia has in view—the United States."

"I wish I could enjoy the optimism of the President in relation to world conditions," said House Democratic Leader McCormack of Massachusetts. "It is my opinion that world conditions do not justify such optimism."

Sen. Bricker (R-Ohio) asserted that "only the blindly partisan will challenge the President's conclusions that America's position in world leadership and her economic health were never stronger."

More Firing Along Border of Israeli

JERUSALEM (UP)—Israeli and Egyptian patrols exchanged fire for a half hour today across the border in the troubled El Ajlun-Nizana area, an Israeli military spokesman announced. No casualties were reported.

The spokesman charged the Egyptians opened fire on the Israelis, who returned the fire. The incident was reported to the U.N. truce observers.

The spokesman said an armored car carrying the same Israeli patrol was damaged later by a mine west of Beerayim near the border separating Israel's Negev Desert territory from Egypt's Sinai Peninsula. Again there were no casualties.

Weather Still Troublesome in Northwest

By United Press

Endless rains, mud slides, and hurricane force winds spread more havoc through the Pacific Northwest today.

A mud slide demolished a new $20,000 home outside Seattle, Wash., burying a 10-year-old girl. More rains pelted sudden North California, but a return of killer floods was not expected.

Elsewhere, a cold wave dumped temperatures as much as 35 degrees in Montana and North Dakota and a surge of southern air boosted the mercury to record heights in the Midwest.

The mud slide near Seattle yesterday hit the side of a home in suburban Lake City and rolled through it.

Heather Sneddon, 10, was sleeping when the mud poured into her bedroom. She was completely buried, but saved herself by burrowing under her bedclothes. This created an air pocket which lasted long enough for her father and a neighbor to dig her out.

Vancouver Island was racked by hurricane force winds which ripped the roofs off five homes and battered in a 200-foot section of seawall.

Choir Singer Takes 25 Shots of Liquor a Day — But Being a Taster She Spits It All Out

By HAL BOYLE

NEW YORK (UP) — Majorie Plamp a young choir singer whose whisky intake for the last seven years totals 700 gallons, is no secret drinker — but she has a drinking secret.

Every day, five days a week, year in and year out, she takes aboard an average of 25 two-ounce snifters of bourbon — or about two full bottles.

Even the steadiest patron of the cup that cheers might wonder how a 5-foot-2 young lady weighing only 115 pounds could put down all that stuff and remain clear-eyed and steady — even if she came from Kentucky which she does and had two hollow legs which she definitely doesn't.

The answer lies in Miss Plamp's drinking secret. She doesn't down the stuff. She merely swishes it around in her mouth for a few seconds, then spits it out.

"Yes, all of it," said Majorie

China Refuses to Set Time for Release

By EDWIN SHANKE

LONDON (UP)—Red China refused today to fix a time limit for the release of Americans the Communists are holding in prison as criminals. Peiping radio, commenting on Chinese-American talks in Geneva, said:

"While they are serving their sentences, they have no right to request permission to return to the United States."

The United States has accused Red China of violating an agreement it made Sept. 10, to permit all American citizens within its control to return home "expeditiously." The Chinese Communists said 27 of 40 Americans had been released so far.

"Americans who offend against the law in China must be dealt with in accordance with Chinese legal procedures and no time limit can be set for their release," the Peiping broadcast said.

"Furthermore, while they are serving their sentences, they have no right to request permission to return to the United States."

"It is only when they have completed their sentences or when China has adopted measures to release them before the completion of their sentences that the question of their exercising the right to return can arise."

"As to what measures China will adopt in accordance with Chinese legal procedures and when such measures will be adopted in regard to them, that is a matter of China's sovereignty in which no foreign interference is allowed."

An American-Chinese communiqué issued in Geneva Sept. 10 said machinery had been set up so the imprisoned Americans could be released "expeditiously." The State Department in Washington interpreted that to mean "promptly."

The announcement said Brit a in, which has a charge d'affaires in Peiping, would be asked to aid in repatriation of the Americans and that "appropriate measures" would be taken by Peiping to assure that the detailed Americans could "expeditiously exercise their right" to go home. But interpretation of the key words — "appropriate measures" and "expeditiously" — was left up to the Chinese.

None of the prisoners are from the Midwest.

Officials Feel Odds Against War in 1956

By DONALD J. GONZALES

WASHINGTON (UP)—The Eisenhower administration believes the odds are against Russia or Red China starting a big war in 1956, officials said today.

They said that Red tactics instead will be aimed primarily at "quiet aggression" through stepped-up political, economic and subversive programs.

Experts put this interpretation on President Eisenhower's statement in his State of the Union message that "Soviet and Chinese communism still poses a serious threat to the free world."

Mr. Eisenhower also said that the October Big Four Foreign Minister's conference at Geneva "demonstrated conclusively that the Soviet leaders are not yet willing to create the indispensable conditions for a secure and lasting peace."

These passages raised a question as to inside administration thinking on war-peace prospects, and whether the President meant the Chinese Reds would strike at Formosa in the next few months.

High-ranking strategists said the Communists might suddenly attempt a quick strike in the Far East, Southeast Asia or the Middle East. But Allied forces, they said, are not letting down their guard.

Grace, Prince to Wed Soon After Easter

PHILADELPHIA (UP)—Grace Kelly, the movies' blonde beauty with the patrician manner, will marry Prince Rainier III of Monaco soon after Easter.

She said so at a press reception in her parents' home here yesterday, several hours after the surprise announcement that the Oscar-winning actress and one of the most eligible bachelors anywhere were engaged.

Hollywood, used to surprises, has seldom been more flabbergasted. The little Riviera domain of the handsome 32-year-old Rainier made today a full holiday, keeping up a merry pace set by a jubilant people when they heard the first radio bulletin. The radio in Monte Carlo, gambling mecca and showplace of the principality, has talked about little else ever since.

The prince and his 26-year-old serene highness-to-be were toasted in champagne. Flowers were wreath around their pictures in shop windows. Everyone rejoiced that Rainier at last would take a wife.

If he were to die without heir his principality, which requires its 1,000 permanent residents to pay no taxes, would revert to French rule with French tax rates prevailing.

Miss Kelly, in radiant mood, told newsmen who jammed the family mansion for the reception that she did indeed plan a family.

Both Miss Kelly and the prince are Roman Catholics. Neither has been married before. What's more, Grace said that she was in love only once before, with a Philadelphia boy now dead. Thus did she dispose of persistent rumors until recently of a romance between her and actor Jean Pierre Aumont.

The press reception in the big, sprawling house of John B. Kelly, millionaire builder and civic leader, was gay and informal.

A reporter asked Kelly: "How do you feel about this? Are you happy about it?"

"Sure," said the father genially. "It's all right. Yes, it's fine."

When the question was put to Miss Kelly whether she planned a large family, she laughed and nodded yes. She was about to elaborate but her mother took it from there, asserting:

"Why, certainly she'll have a large family. I'm a grandmother, and I like a lot of grandchildren."

CHANGE OF HEART
KLEARYNE, Neb. (UP) — A burglar broke into a sporting goods store, piled up loot before him, and then had a sudden change of heart.

Store employees found the pile and the loot almost walked out with. But God told me not to, so I didn't. I'm sorry about the window. Please forgive me."

WOE IS HE
JOWA CITY, Iowa. (UP) — Leo Mangold Jr., ran into three kinds of trouble in a half hour yesterday.

His car left the road and rolled over several times into a ditch. Mangold, unhurt, hitchhiked into Iowa City and returned to find a rifle, a shotgun, a tire and a wheel stolen from his car.

Police then charged him with failure to have his car under control.

Residents of Monaco Are Very Happy

MONTE CARLO, Monaco (UP)—"Bravo, prince, well done," said a gardener at Monte Carlo's famed casino.

"Now the life of the dynasty can be assured," said the mayor of the nation's only town.

Thus the residents of this tiny Mediterranean principality responded today to long-awaited word that their bachelor prince Rainier III would finally have a princess — American film star Grace Kelly — and they hope an heir.

"Monegasques" decked the town with their country's colors — red and blue — and put the day aside to celebrate.

"Flower-festooned pictures of the prince showed in shop windows everywhere. Beside them, when they could be found, were photographs of the blonde beauty whose betrothal to the 32-year-old prince was announced yesterday.

Mayor Robert Boisson was jubilant.

"All Monegasques are happy at the news," he told reporters, "happy because the prince will be married and he could have children so the life of the dynasty could be assured."

The celebration began last night as soon as the glad tidings became known. Champagne and wine merchants did a land office business. The Monte Carlo radio talked of practically nothing else.

National Assembly President Louis Auegia wired the prince in Philadelphia, saying, "The Assembly at a special meeting, and I myself, express to your highness the joy felt at the news of your engagement."

The matter is of more than passing importance for Monaco's residents. If the royal family ceases to exist, tax-free Monaco becomes part of France with its taxes and military service.

L. F. Higgason, 70, Ex-County Judge, Dies at His Home

Luther F. Higgason, aged 70, died at his home here early Friday. Mr. Higgason was a retired teacher, public official and farmer. He was a member of the Woodmen of the World and the First Baptist Church.

He served as Circuit Clerk of Hempstead from 1920 to 1924 and prior to that taught school for 15 years. In 1931 he was elected county judge, serving one term. During the latter years he devoted his time to farming.

Form Prices Still Decline

LITTLE ROCK (UP)—Prices which Arkansas farmers receive for their products are continuing to decline. The Federal-State Crop Reporting Service said yesterday that farm prices in Arkansas during the 30 days that ended Dec. 15 dropped 3.8 per cent from mid-November levels. The price level was 52 per cent below the corresponding period of 1954, the service said.

Meat animal prices fell 6.8 per cent and cotton was down 4.3 per cent to contribute heavily to the over-all decline. No increased prices were reported but oil bearing crops, feed grains and hay held steady.

Truck Driver Questioned at Arkadelphia

ger, a 42-year-old truck driver from Summerville, S. C., was jailed here today on a charge of first degree murder in the death of a Texas woman who was found dead in a roadside ditch last week.

Prosecutor Travis Mathis said a preliminary hearing would be held next week for Geiger, who is being held here without bond.

Geiger told police that Mrs. Mildred Holden of Silsbee, Texas, grabbed a .38 caliber pistol he carried in his truck and shot herself after hitching a ride with him. He said he didn't know her motive.

Arkansas State Police Capt. Alan Templeton said at Little Rock, where Geiger was processed on his arrival from South Carolina, that he felt the trucker had "some things to explain."

on his arrival from South Carolina with police to pick up Geiger, said there were "several flaws" in Geiger's story. He declined to elaborate.

Geiger, who lives at Summerville with his wife and three children, waived extradition.

Geiger has been quoted as saying he dumped her body in the ditch alongside U. S. Highway 67, and drove on because he was too frightened to notify police.

An autopsy has revealed that Mrs. Holden was shot by a small caliber gun from close range. The bullet pierced her skull.

Geiger told officers that he picked up Mrs. Holden near Beaumont, Tex., on Dec. 28, the day she left her home in Silsbee to hitchhike north. Her destination never has been determined.

Geiger was picked up in Summerville established that Mrs. Holden last was seen riding in a truck, and then traced the vehicle to the South Carolina city.

Says Moderns Don't Think Enough

LOS ANGELES (UP)—Modern society's greatest affliction, says a University of Michigan psychologist is that the present generation doesn't have to do enough thinking.

Dr. Wilma Donahue told 5,000 members of the Los Angeles County Medical Association that one of the best ways to keep young is to continue to use the brain "for without using it constantly, brain cells atrophy just as muscle cells do when there is lack of exercise."

She said yesterday that she is convinced children today do less thinking than their grandparents.

"Everything is done for us," she said. "We are told what to think and seldom have to meet new situations. The farmer of the past had to meet some new crisis every day. Less thinking means that only 10 per cent of this generation really are creative people."

Congress Will Go Along on Some Proposals

By FRANK ELEAZER

WASHINGTON (UP)—Congress will go along with President Eisenhower's request to keep federal sales and corporation taxes at their present levels for another year.

Key lawmakers in both parties and both houses today agreed on this. They said they will be little or no difficulty in extending the business taxes and thus saving the treasury $500,000,000—as requested by Mr. Eisenhower in his State of the Union message yesterday.

This means excise tax rates on such items as liquor, gasoline, cigarettes, cosmetics and furs would continue at their present rates after April 1 although the originally were scheduled to decline then. The tax rate on corporation income would continue at 48 per cent.

As for personal income tax, most lawmakers agreed with the President there can be no reduction immediately. But some did hope that another look at the government budget in the spring can yet open the way to a reduction either on July 1 or January.

Mr. Eisenhower, in his congressional message yesterday, pointed out, as far as he is concerned, any reduction now in income taxes. And he said he won't go along with a cut in the future until the surplus even after some payments are made on the national debt.

Memoranda in the best position to influence tax legislation said there will be no serious move for the next several months anyway start a tax-cutting drive.

Beyond that, some big questions remained.

Many members thought that President won't know what Mal... perhaps even June... they're... the... for a general... during the fiscal year... starting July 1.

Colorado Firm Buys Magnolia Oil Company

DENVER, (UP)—Colorado Oil and Gas Corporation of Denver announced today it had reached agreement with the Lawton Oil Corporation of Magnolia, Ark., to purchase all assets of the Arkansas firm.

W. C. Norman, president of Colorado Oil and Gas Corp., said that under the terms of the agreement with R. G. Lawton, President of Lawton Oil Corp., all properties and operations of Lawton Oil would go to the Colorado firm. Norman said Colorado Oil and Gas would deliver 150,000 shares of common stocks to the stockholders of Lawton oil in liquidation of the Arkansas corporation.

Norman said the addition of the Lawton properties would add to the gas production of the Colorado corporation and increase its daily oil production by approximately 1,000 barrels to a total of 8,500 barrels a day. Lawton's producing properties are located principally in Arkansas, New Mexico and Texas.

In addition, Lawton will have over 35,000 acres net interest, 129,000 acres of unproved lands located generally in the "hemp mid-continent area."

Miss Plamp says she never takes a drink on the job and adds that, "a matter of fact, a distillery is one of the hardest places in the world for a fellow to cure a thirst."

"After every three samples, I have to test my taste buds for five minutes," she said. "I confine my drinking to purely social occasions, and I have a two-drink limit. That's my capacity."

Besides requiring monumental self-control, a professional whisky taster is under other limitations. He can't, for example, take samples home to his friends.

"There are 14 government men around to check on things," she remarked.

Miss Plamp sings alto in her church choir; her hobby is going on camping trips, and her current dream is a Princeton University English professor.

Has her unusual occupation had any unusual effect on her?

"Well, if I have a cold I have to let the samples pile up until I shake it and get my sense of smell back," she said.

There's one other thing. I used to have a great deal of trouble with my teeth. Since I became a taster seven years ago I haven't developed a single new cavity."

She emphasized, however, she wasn't recommending whisky-rinsing one's teeth 25 times a day as a substitute for a visit to the dentist. "It merely has worked out that way with her."

CAIRO, (UP)—Egypt and Yugoslavia stood firm today on their determination to steer clear of world military pacts.

Marshal Tito of Yugoslavia and Premier Gamal Abdel Nasser refused to align themselves with either East or West in a joint communiqué issued yesterday. The communiqué was issued at the conclusion of Tito's week-long official visit to Egypt.

The communiqué said the policy of non-alignment will help relax international tensions. It said that military pacts lead to "quick and dangerous" changes among nations.

River Program Has Attention of Arkansans

By CORON BROWN

WASHINGTON (UP)—Arkansas senators and representatives will concentrate in 1956 on getting the Arkansas River development program rolling.

Specific target will be appropriations to get work under way on the big Dardanelle Dam and to do considerable more bank stabilization work along the stream.

Both are integral parts of the comprehensive program for a 9-foot navigation channel on the Arkansas River across the state and into Oklahoma.

Bank stabilization is necessary to prevent erosion of valuable land and to tie down the river channel for navigation. The Dardanelle Dam is one of a dozen such projects which would be built in the two states to regulate water flow for navigation as well as to control floods, generate electricity and provide for recreation areas.

The Arkansas development program was authorized a good many years ago. Some bank stabilization work has been done at badly eroding spots and a few of the dams which form a part of the overall program have been built in Oklahoma.

Last year the delegation succeeded in getting Congress to vote $450,000 in construction funds for Dardanelle and a like sum for the proposed Eufaula Dam in Oklahoma. These appropriations came in the face of no Budget Bureau recommendation.

At present, the Arkansas delegation is waiting to see what the Budget Bureau and President Eisenhower recommend to Congress.

Rep. Hays said, however, he is quite hopeful the budget will include a recommendation for bank stabilization funds and for Dardanelle.

"I believe we impressed them last session that we are serious about the program," Hays said, referring to the success in getting the Dardanelle and Eufaula appropriations.

Hays said that not only is the Arkansas delegation united on the program but that there is "complete unity with the Oklahoma delegation."

Sens. McClellan and Fulbright have long supported the program as have Reps. Trimble, Hays and Norrell whose districts are traversed by the Arkansas River.

Recently Rep. Mills announced he would join an energetic effort this year to get the program rolling.

"Navigation on the Arkansas River," Mills said, "will create benefits for the entire state." delegation.

Hays said that Army Engineers have let one $65,000 contract for core drillings on the site of the Dardanelle Dam, which is about halfway between Little Rock and Fort Smith. This is the first step toward actual construction.

An appropriation of a substantial size next year would permit letting of actual construction contracts in the fiscal year starting July 1.

An investigation which Sen. Fulbright made into the RFC several years ago is about to result in a 30 million dollar profit to the government.

During his inquiry Fulbright turned up facts indicating some fantastic profits had been made in purchase of surplus tankers which then were resold to companies controlled by aliens.

As a result of his spadework, the government recently announced settlements under which some purchasers are to pay the government about 30 million dollars.

Rep. Mills said he wants to see the government work out a well rounded program to aid rural areas and enhance their economic opportunities.

As part of this he plans to urge a 12 million dollar increase in the soil conservation program, the increase to be applied to increasing field personnel who work with farmers for better utilization of land. He also wants more funds for research into production and growth of hardwoods in the South.

Both of these moves, he said, deals with better use of idle land and with land which might be taken out of production under farm acreage control programs.

It is vital, he said, to reverse the trend which has seen farm income decline. He said he wants a farm program to reverse this trend and restore the farm purchasing power.

Rep. Gathings has announced these appointments to the U.S. Service Academies at West Point and Annapolis:

West Point—Principal, James Wallace Hammack, Jr., Marston; First Alternate, Jerry D. Branscum, Black Oak; Second Alternate, Billy Wayne Field, Leachville.

Annapolis—Principal, John R. Parks, Jonesboro. No alternates named since Parks was an alternate last year and qualified for entrance but was not admitted since his principal qualified and was accepted.

Annapolis—Principal, David Lawrence Trice, Paragould; First Alternate, Samuel Wellington Robbins, Turrial.

LAW AND DEFENDANT

FULTON, Miss., (UP) Carl D. Pierce will swear both to uphold and answer to the law next Monday.

Pierce is scheduled to be sworn in as Itawamba county constable and on the same day is docked to answer to charges of possessing a 400-gallon whisky still.

BEWARE THE "COCO" DILE—This anti-Communist poster in Paris, France, symbolizes the Soviet's "Geneva Spirit." The poster depicts Russian friendship as being armed with sharp teeth. That impression was given by statements of Russia's Party Chief Nikita Khrushchev and Premier Nikolai Bulganin on their Asian tour. In the French caption "The Smile of the Coco... dile is Its Strongest Weapon." "Coco" is a play on the French nickname for Communists.

LENINGRAD, (UP)—The touring American "Porgy and Bess" troupe wound up its 11-day stand in the theater house of culture last night before the customary capacity crowd.

An estimated 30,000 persons saw George Gershwin's dramatic opera during its 14 presentations. The 105-member troupe leaves tonight for Moscow where the show will open Jan. 10.

MARINO, Italy, (UP)—One passenger was killed and 16 seriously injured when a runaway streetcar hurtled down a hill and into a brick wall last night.

LONDON, (UP)—Queen Mother Elizabeth said yesterday she would be "delighted" to accept as a gift an American-published Bible especially prepared by an Anglo-American committee.

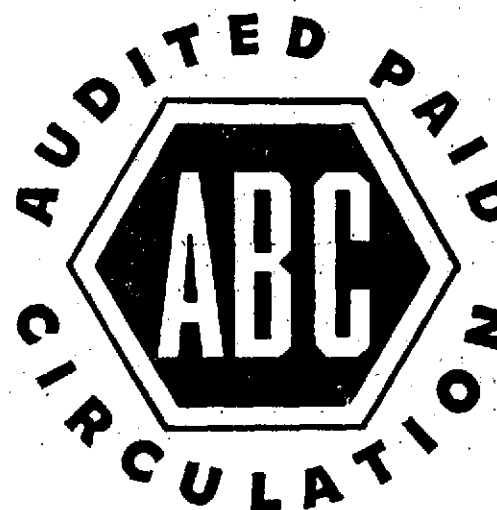

The Bible is illustrated with paintings by William Blake, English mystic poet-painter, whose bicentenary falls next year. The gift to Queen Mother Elizabeth was suggested by Mrs. Ruth H. Churchill, Belmont, Mass., an American sponsor of the William Blake bicentenary celebrations committee.

The advertiser's highest standard—of circulation value

Every industry has a standard by which its products can be measured.

The jeweler uses the symbol of a pure diamond. In flatware, the word "sterling" and in dinnerware, the word "bone china," represent high standards of quality and value.

For the advertiser, the symbol of the highest standard of circulation value is the emblem of the Audit Bureau of Circulations*. This hallmark means that newspapers or periodicals so identified are measured according to the most highly regarded rules and standards in the advertising and publishing industry.

The fact that we are privileged to display this A.B.C. emblem here means that you can buy advertising in this newspaper as you would make any other sound business investment—on the basis of well known standards, known values.

*This newspaper is a member of the Audit Bureau of Circulations, a cooperative, nonprofit association of publishers, advertisers, and advertising agencies. Our circulation is audited by experienced A.B.C. circulation auditors. Our A.B.C. report shows how much circulation we have, where it goes, how obtained, and other facts that tell advertisers what they get for their money when they use this paper.

Caretaker of Studio Recalls the Old Stars

By BOB THOMAS
HOLLYWOOD (AP) — This week Sam Hill begins a new life of leisure after 34 years of caring for one of the most famed studios in Hollywood.

Sam, a big, craggy-faced man of 65 years, has retired as superintendent of Samuel Goldwyn studio. He takes with him a wealth of memories about a lot which has seen a rich segment of Hollywood history.

As he was winding up his duties at the studio, Sam reflected on his years there:

"I came to take over the place in 1922. Bronco Billy Anderson had built the studio a couple of years before, then Dug Fairbanks and Mary Pickford took it over. Mr. Goldwyn moved in in 1928. He did the place over, and again in 1935. Yes, I've seen just about every star in Hollywood working here. D. W. Griffith made 'Topsy' and 'Eva' on the lot. Harold Lloyd did 'Movie Crazy.' Doug made most of his great pictures — 'The Iron Mask,' 'The Black Pirate.' We've had them all, from William S. Hart to Marlon Brando."

He pulled out a drawer that contained the name plates for stars' dressing rooms. "I've always kept them," he said. "You never can tell when they might be coming back."

He flipped through the cards and read off the names: John Barrymore, Fredric March, Roy Laroque, Vilma Banky, Gary Cooper, Eddie Cantor, Groucho Marx, Ronald Colman, Loretta Young (she did a film there 23 years ago, is now back doing her TV shows), Jean Simmons, Frank Sinatra, etc., etc.

Did he have any favorites among the stars?
"No," he replied. "But I did find one thing: the bigger they are, the nicer they are. The ones who raised a fuss were generally the small-time actors."

He did look back with fondness on the days when Doug Fairbanks ruled the lot.

"Oh, he was a live one. He was always bouncing around and playing jokes. He was full of fun, and sometimes I think that was why he and Mary broke up."

Big Year Is Predicted for Television

By CHARLES MERCER
NEW YORK (AP) — Our operations have finally reported in after consulting the sibyls and soothsayers, the astrologers and assorted prophets on what to expect from television and radio in 1956. The statisticians have projected their curves and see a boom business year for the industry. The figures to support this are very dull and won't be mentioned here.

They will be an increased number of long television programs; the two-hour program will be commonplace by the end of the year; the brief newscast, which reached an all-time high in radio in 1955, will be heard with even greater frequency in 1956. In lighter hearted vein the astrologers see other things. They will be about 27 new quiz programs on television. Of these, about 26 will imitate features of the couple of thousand now on the screen. One will be totally different—and may last three weeks or three years.

Arthur Godfrey will fire five more employees. Each firing will be attended with newspaper headlines. Every other producer in the business will fire many more employees than Godfrey—and no one will think of reporting it.

A total of 4,787 men and women are now working on program ideas which they are expected to be more popular than the $64,000 Question. Of these, 4,798 will fizzle. One, marked by extraordinary simplicity, will succeed.

All the comedians in the business will at various times be assailed by the conviction they're on the way out. Yet all but one will still be in business at the end of the year. This one will fade so slowly he won't even know it happened. It really will be quite painful, sir.

At least one high-ranking official of one television network will transfer his allegiance to another television network. This will create a big stir in a small segment of New York and leave the rest of the country indifferent.

As the astrologers all agree, the only predictable thing about television in 1956 is that it's generally unpredictable.

Reader Runs Temperature

Editor The Star: Regarding your temperature reporting I suggest you beg, buy or build a good thermometer, install in a location unaffected by sunlight or artificial heat, read it at about 6:30 a. m. and 3 p. m. daily, and print figures in comparison to Experiment Station's high and low. I'm sure there would be an unbelievable difference on many occasions.

According to the Northeast corner front page of your Dec. 30 edition, dated Dec. 31, both the high and low for the 24 hour period ending at 7 a. m. Friday (Dec. 30) was 38. Your "All Around the Town" block implied verification. I live at "Green Lilly" a farm located at the outskirts of Evening Shade, which is about 11 or 12 miles southwest of the Experiment Station. I have a small, highly official, clean, souvenir grade thermometer, which is only a few degrees more dependable than your chief proof reader, but usually manages to be within 2 or 3 degrees of the reports heard via radio from the Texarkana weather station. It indicated 50 at about 7:30 a. m. Dec. 29, 62 at about 2:30 p. m. of the same day and 38 at 7 a. m. Dec. 30. How easy is it to believe that the temperature varied from the 30s to the 60s at Evening Shade during the 24-hour period ending at 7 a. m. Friday Dec. 30 but didn't get above or below the 38 mark for even one minute during the same 24 hours at the Hope Experiment Station, less than 12 miles away, as the crow flies?"

Maybe I could understand the Experiment Station's resolute 38 if I had been able to understand that article with the stuff about the "low set and the high set" in the Star quite a while back. I have experienced no great difficulty with federal income tax forms, etc., but that weird business about the high or low temperature being limited during a 24-hour period, not by atmospheric conditions but by the reading at the beginning of a period is more mysterious to me than the stone giants on Easter Island. Einstein's explanation of E equals MC squared, or my own inability to hook fish or borrow money.

Why not show the high for the preceding 24 hours and low for the preceding 12 hours? When people read about the temperature they want to know the previous day's high and the previous night's low. When listed for the 24-hour period the low is often misleading, especially if the temperature rises steadily during all the period. The lows for two 24-hour periods will then often occur within a few minutes of each other. The first near the end, the second at the very beginning.

Your present system may be giving Hope Star readers in distant places a false impression of the severity of our winter climate.

DOROTHY DIX
Widower Of 45 Has No Cause For Loneliness

Dear Miss Dix: Since the death of my wife three years ago, I have become increasingly lonely. My teenage children are growing up and have their own friends; my sister, who is 62 and keeps house for us, has her friends, who are somewhat older than I.

My wife had been ill a long time and consequently we had drifted away from all our friends. My work is with married men who are completely wrapped up in their own families. What can you suggest as a means of making friends and keeping busy in my spare time? I am 45.

Answer: If it's feminine company you seek there certainly should be no difficulty, as the supply of widows far exceeds that of widowers. Why not talk to your pastor? There may be activities in church that will interest you; there certainly will be work for you to do there and working together is the best way for folks to become acquainted.

Perhaps there's a play coming up and you could help make scenery. You might work with the Boy Scouts — there never is enough leadership for them — or begin to work and plan summer activities.

Help Youngsters

Teen-Agers have lots of need for fatherly co-operation. You might help transport the gang to basketball games, skating parties, dances or other affairs. This may not sound like fun, but youngsters are a lively crew and proof against boredom. Besides, one of your boy's classmates may remark what a swell dad Tim has, or your daughter's friends might voice appreciation of your efforts in their behalf. Other parents will hear there certainly will be work for you about you and presto, new friends are made.

To make friends you must get about and make yourself known. No one is going to come knocking at your door offering companionship. Many a social contact that looked unpromising has turned out to be quite productive.

Dear Miss Dix: My sister is keeping company with a fine boy who is a steady worker, sober and very considerate. Our family thinks a great deal of this boy. My sister

Facts to Be Hard to Glean in Campaign

By JAMES MARLOW
Associated Press News Analyst
WASHINGTON (AP) — The voters will need magnifying glasses to distinguish facts from fancy nine months from now when the presidential campaign is getting up steam.

That's the time Democrats and Republicans will make their loudest claims on what each side has done for the country in the Congress session which opened this week.

On a few issues the voters may says she can't marry him because he has an extra large nose. Don't you think this is a silly thing to stand in the way of a marriage? She wants him to have plastic surgery, but he says no. JOHNNIE

Answer: If the young man's prominent proboscis doesn't prevent your sister from going out with him — and steady, at that — why should it be too annoying or embarrassing to a husband? She is indeed foolish to keep her from a good marriage. As she'll find later, perhaps to her sorrow, husbands with such fine qualifications don't grow on trees.

Dear Miss Dix: What do you think of a young man going with a girl who has broken her engagement to another man? Since she was pledged to her fiancé, it seems to me she should have stuck with him. What guarantee has the second man that she won't do the same to him?

Answer: Sounds like a case of sour grapes to me. Who are you? A disgruntled and disappointed candidate?

Engagements are trying-out periods and anyone is privileged to break one without incurring national censure.

As for guarantees, as wise old Ben Franklin said, "In this world nothing is certain but death and taxes." No one can guarantee eternal happiness. A girl who has broken one engagement is no worse risk than one who has never been betrothed. In fact, one bad experience will make her more selective.

News Briefs

NEWPORT, England, (UP) — U.S. Air Force officials today scheduled an inquiry to determine how and why a practice bomb was dropped in a field near here last night by a USAF B-26 jet bomber.

The bomb, which made a crater 25 feet across, was removed by a Royal Air Force squad. It caused little damage when it hit, shattering a few windows in a nearby hothouse, but no casualties.

MANILA, (UP) — Dr. and Mrs. Homer Bradshaw, of New York City, released recently after 11½ years imprisonment in Communist China, may be well enough to continue their trip to the United States next week, medical officials said today.

DUSSELDORF, Germany, (UP) — West German steel and iron mills topped all production records in 1955, according to official figures released yesterday.

ERG, Germany, (UP) — Unemployment in West Germany passed the 1,000,000 mark last December for the first time in eight months, the government reported today.

SANTIAGO, Chile, (UP) — The Workers' Central Union last night called a strike of its 1,000,000 members to start midnight Sunday in protest against a government bill to freeze prices and wages.

TOYAMA, Japan, (UP) — Matsutaro Shoriki, chairman of Japan's new atomic energy commission, predicted today Japan will construct a practical atomic power station by the end of 1959.

TOKYO, (UP) — A public opinion poll conducted by Kyodo News Service showed today that a slim majority of Japanese favor reduction of Red China and the withdrawal of American troops from Japan.

The agency said it questioned 2,500 persons throughout Japan and 52 per cent wanted diplomatic ties with Red China. The poll found 54 per cent wanted American troops withdrawn and 50 per cent opposed expansion of U.S. military bases.

NOT QUITE SIXTEEN TONS

DETROIT, Mich., (UP) — A confessed shoplifter who tried to fit the words of a popular song, "Sixteen Tons," to his personal troubles was in jail today.

Sherman Gavin admitted stealing from a downtown store but said he was "kind of like that guy in the song."

"I owe my soul to that store," he said. "If you send me to jail I can't go."

Said Judge John A. Ricci: "Your body is my jurisdiction; not your soul. Thirty days."

Hope Loses to Delight; Gurdon Here Tonight

STRINGY CREATION — It wasn't spaghetti that inspired this hat in Rome, Italy. Designer Clara Benelli says the inspiration came from the shaggy petals of a chrysanthemum.

KING-SIZED — Kenneth Haynes, only one day old, winks an eye after tipping the scales at 13 pounds, 11 ounces. Kenneth, largest baby born in 57 years at Samaritan Hospital in Troy, N.Y., surpassed the expectations of even his father, William Haynes of Schenectady, N.Y. He said "he never expected anything like this."

Smarting Porks Open Against Baylor Saturday
FAYETTEVILLE, (AP) — Arkansas Razorbacks, smarting under their worst early season record since a beginning intercollegiate competition in basketball 32 years ago, open their Southwest Conference campaign tomorrow night against Baylor.

The Porks travel to Waco for the game, and then move to Austin to play Texas Monday night.

Arkansas has scored only one victory in nine starts this year, mainly because they haven't been able to uncover a style of play to offset a lack of both height and depth.

In losing to seven college opponents, the Razorbacks have held their margin of defeat to an average of 4.5 points per game. Too often, the overworked starting five has tired late in a game and relinquished a lead to fresher opponents.

Arkansas has averaged 60.8 points per game, while giving up 63.6. These figures include the Razorbacks' loss to the Phillips 66ers, probably the nation's best semipro team.

Coach Glen Rose, who fashioned the greatest teams in the school's history, says his squad should be content to improve and be "content that the future will be better."

The seven straight defeats which Arkansas suffered before opening its first game, an 80-49 decision over Texas A&M, left the players "tense, overanxious and making more mistakes than ever," said Rose.

Much of Rose's optimism is generated by the sparkling work turned in by Manuel Whitley in the Porks' last four games.

Whitley, a 25-year-old basketball veteran, returned to Arkansas this season after two years of military service and apparently now has worked the kinks out of his game. His scoring average for the past four contests is a gaudy 21.3 points per game, and he heads the Porks in both pointmaking and rebounding.

The agile senior netted 72 points in three games at the annual holiday Southwest Conference Tournament to become the first Razorback to win a berth on the all-tournament team. Whitley trailed only Rice's amazing Temple Tucker, who got 102 points, in scoring during the tourney.

None of the Razorbacks can approach Whitley's ability under the backboards. Whitley has captured 87 rebounds in nine games. His nearest competitor is Terry Day with 49.

Two other Southwest games are slated for tomorrow night. Southern Methodist, league leader and winner of the conference tourney, journeys to Austin to play the Texas Longhorns. Second-place Rice stays at Houston to play Texas A&M.

The State Champion Delight team turned back Coach Wayne Taylor's Hope Bobcats 61 to 46 last night in the Henderson College tournament. The Delight boys are heavily favored to take the tournament. It was their 49th straight victory without a defeat.

All-State Claude Walker of Delight was high point man of the game with 30. Hope's Harold Honea was next with 16. Hope's Perry Purdie and Delight's Leon McKenney came next with 10 each. Steve Marlar and the winners' Bob Fugit tossed in eight each.

After the opening quarter the Delight team pulled steadily away to win handily.

Tonight the Bobcats return to the local court where they will entertain Gurdon.

Dayton Wins Behind Sharp Play of Uhl

By ED WILKS
Of The Associated Press

Dayton's third-ranked Flyers have themselves a 10-game winning streak at the moment, and more important, seven-foot Bill Uhl has shed his sleeping giant role and matured into a full-fledged Goliath in college basketball.

Time was when the big fellow wasn't much more use than a five-foot guy standing on a step ladder. He had height but couldn't move.

But last night Big Bill moved with relative ease as the unbeaten Flyers ran away from Duquesne 68-52. Uhl had 23 points, all but three from the field, and grabbed 24 rebounds.

All was not butter and honey among the top-ranked teams last night. Maryland, playing possession ball, upset seventh-ranked George Washington 66-44. And lightly regarded Spring Hill of Mobile, Ala., tumbled previously undefeated and 12th-ranked Memphis State 69-65 with a fantastic closing drive in the title game of the Senior Bowl Tournament at Mobile.

George Washington, which hadn't been choked out with less than 50 points since 1950, couldn't get the ball away from Maryland. The Terps just played catch and dared the Colonials, who had averaged 82 points a game in building a 9-1 record.

Memphis State seemed headed for an 11-0 record, leading 63-48 with 7 minutes left in its bid for a second straight Senior Bowl crown. But then Spring Hill went off on a tear, striking for 21 points while State got just a field goal.

State attempted to freeze with a 2-point lead and less than 3 minutes left, but Spring Hill twice stole the ball and Ed Tibbets pumped in the clincher from under the basket with 40 seconds remaining. Gene McGuire, who scored the tying points, was high with 27.

Elsewhere, Vassar Yockel scored 30 points as Clemson defeated Miami (Fla.) 98-96 in the Senior Bowl consolation game. Western Kentucky wiped out a 3-point deficit and Ohio Xavier's unbeaten record 73-72 with Montrose Holland sinking two free throws for the clincher with less than 2 minutes left to edge the Ohioans. And tall, talented St. Louis breezed past Loyola of New Orleans 110-79.

Tulane, led by Cal Grosscup, making his first appearance after transferring from Purdue — smacking Georgia 72-56 in a Southeastern Conference game.

Low Carpenter Called by Army

LITTLE ROCK (AP)—One of the best fullbacks in the University of Arkansas' football history, Low Carpenter, has called a recess in his gridiron career to serve a hitch in the Army.

Carpenter was inducted into the Army here yesterday, and left immediately for Camp Chaffee, near Fort Smith, to begin basic training.

The 24-year-old back, whose exceptional ball carrying ability results from both speed and power, was a Razorback mainstay in 1930-31-32. Since graduation, he has played with the professional Detroit Lions, who switched him to halfback and put him in their No. 1 offensive backfield.

Carpenter's younger brother, Preston, completed his football service at Arkansas last season, and will follow Low into the professional ranks. Preston, an All-Southwest Conference selection at halfback, has been drafted by the Cleveland Browns.

That night when Kaut went below he took the Bowditch the Daboll Traverse Tables and the Nautical Almanac from the bulkhead rack, the log board from the compound way. A number of Bothwicks' problems were in a sheaf in the back of the Bowditch and he put them on the table and tried to explore through them.

He made no sense. His limited knowledge of written English added to his confusion, and the extent of his mathematics was the simple arithmetic he had learned from the mate of the missionary Schooner. What was on the pages led through mysteries vastly beyond his ability to comprehend.

Despair grew into disgust then rage at himself. He stumbled off to his cabin and lay sleepless in the bunk while columns of figures writhed in a grotesque serpentine before his eyes and the strange-sounding words reverberated like the waves that struck the shipside.

He returned the next night, though, and every night for a week. Some glint of understanding reached him when he copied off the courses of the day's run from the log board on the sixth night. Those had meaning to him because their origin was directly traceable to the actual sailing of the ship. Still the meaning of leeway in the manner that it was applied to find the true course was incomprehensible until he had written out one of Bothwicks' problems completely and substituted the figures on the log board.

Clarity arrived fast. He redid the problem and then several others. The tension eased in his stomach and the headache left him. He had the temptation to sing, to shout, and he called out softly in triumph. "Oh, manna! Most beautiful manna! You are my shipmate now, my talo, my great, true friend!"

But he was reticent about entering the results of his probe in the logbook.

"Plenty for tonight!" he told himself. "Get some sleep. For a time, you thought that your skull was going to crack like an old coconut. But tomorrow night you can take the sextant and look at the stars. You will be a navigator."

He thought that he would die at once in the water. It compressed his body within a cold that went to the marrow. But he clung to the sextant, and as he pushed to the surface he did his best to keep it up and out in the air. His boots filled; his clothing dragged him down, and with the second immersion he was aware that he must get rid of them. He maintained the sextant in his right hand while he cleared his knife and slashed and cut and wrenched, shifted it to his left in order to get free of his left boot and the clothing on the left side of his body.

A wave surge pounded him as he once more made the surface, but now he was able to tread water, restore some of his breathing. Hurry, Jaeger, hurry, Naish, I'm about to go. He opened his mouth in sheer reaction to the agony of the cold and screamed.

The boat was rowed by three men with Alfie in the bow. Beedie, midships and Bothwick at the steering sweep. It loomed very white in the dark night and against the blue-black sea. Alfie called out to him and sprang up and throw a line to him.

He hung on while Alfie and then Beedie hauled and Bothwick brought the boat in along the waves down-wind.

"Come take the sweep, Alfie," Bothwick said. "Hold her pointed to the wind till I tell you." Bothwick moved forward in the boat and squatted down beside Kaut. He had his pea jacket off, but toned it over Kaut's shoulders. "By the stars! You saved the instrument."

"Slipped like a dumb-head," Kaut said weakly. "I have no right to be in a ship as mate."

"Hardly correct," Bothwick said. He had picked up the sextant. "Now had picked up the sextant can while we put you aboard."

(To Be Continued)

LaRosa Plans to Wed a Secretary
NEW YORK, (UP)—Julius La Rosa, a baritone who shot to fame on a swan song, announced today that his next big number would be a wedding march.

The 26-year-old Brooklyn-born singer, who was fired in Oct. 1933, by Arthur Godfrey for a lack of "humility," said he soon would wed Rosemary "Rory" Meyer, a secretary in Perry Como's office.

Miss Meyer, 24, described as a striking brown-eyed brunette by her friends, hails from Manitowac, Wis. She has lived in New York for the past four years.

La Rosa, who worked 23 months for Godfrey before his sacking, once was linked romantically to Dorothy McGuire, one of a trio of singing sisters still with the Godfrey show. At the time of his firing, both La Rosa and Godfrey denied that the baritone's romance with Miss McGuire was the cause of his ousting.

La Rosa proposed to Miss Meyer on New Year's eve at the home of his parents in Mt. Vernon, N. Y., according to a spokesman for La Rosa, the young singer offered Miss Meyer a ring while she was phoning her parents in Wisconsin.

"Straight is the gate, and narrow is the way, which leadeth unto life, and few there be that find it." Matthew 7:14. A playground does not need a straight path, but the highway to important goals must be straight. Much of the work of the road makers of our day is consumed in straightening out winding roads of yesterday. Trucks loaded with food for hungry people, ambulances carrying the sick and automobiles filled with travelers pointed toward home...all are demanding the straight road.

Great spiritual leaders and teachers have insisted through the centuries that every soul must demand the same sort of "straight and narrow way" along which to move with directness and devotion toward the "good goal." We find goals that are destructive if we tarry too long with the jostling and self-indulgent throng along wide roads which are only midways for State Fairs and playgrounds for immature spirits. The kingdom of God is not reached in such fashion. If you are bent toward the Heavenly goal...choose the "straight and narrow way" that leads to life everlasting.

The "straight and narrow" road begins exactly where you are standing today. If you will but lift your eyes to the hills of God, the path will be seen. The footprints of noble pilgrims, who have gone before, will be shining bright as day. The "straight and narrow way" is the only way.

Sunday School Lesson

By William E. Gilroy, D. D.

There are two outstanding messages in the New Testament. One, and the basic one underlying all else, is the message of the Gospel of God's grace. And the other is the message, or messages, concerning the Christian way of life.

The one is the message of salvation. The other, with great insistence, sets forth the nature of the saved life.

The Philippian jailer (Acts 16) asked, "What must I do to be saved?" He got a very definite answer. He might well have asked, "What must I do after I am saved?" People somehow always have been more concerned with the first question than the second.

But the New Testament insists as much upon the nature of the saved life as upon salvation itself. Paul, for instance, was always emphasizing what Christians should be saved unto much as they were saved from. It is the great distinction of St. Luke's Gospel that it sets forth the two great messages of the New Testament with a simplicity and clarity that is unexcelled.

Take the message of the gospel of God's grace. How could it be stated more clearly and beautifully than in Luke's account of the Parable of the Prodigal Son (Luke 15) and the accompanying parables of the Lost Sheep, and the Lost Piece of Silver?

Here is the presentation of God's love and free grace in the stories of an earthly father, welcoming a wayward son; in the conception of God earnestly seeking lost men, as a shepherd persistently seeks a lost sheep until he finds it; in the tale of a woman earnestly sweeping for a lost coin that she can ill afford to lose.

I cannot profess to be a theologian, or to understand all that may relate to salvation and sacrifice, especially concerning the statement in Hebrews 9:22 "without the shedding of blood there is no remission of sin."

I can only think that St. Paul, in his writings concerning the Atonement, and the writer in Hebrews were relating the gospel of God's free, pardoning grace to the conception of sacrifice in the Old Testament, and incidentally to the idea of sacrifice and the necessity of appeasing a just or angry God, or gods, that has permeated practically all religions.

I leave to the more competent all expositions concerning the nature of the Divine Sacrifice; but in the Parable of the Prodigal Son there is no suggestion of the forgiveness and welcoming of the prodigal by punishing someone else. And a transaction of justice is hardly a matter of mercy and free grace.

It is "the goodness of God that leadeth to repentance" (Romans 2:4). I recall a verse that I often heard sung in my boyhood: "My God is reconciled; His pardoning voice I hear; He owns me for His child; I can no longer fear."

The experience is fine, but its source is wrongly stated. It is not God who is reconciled, but man. Witness Paul's appeal (II Cor. 5:20), "Be ye reconciled to God;" and never forget that the very heart of Paul's gospel, was that "God was in Christ, reconciling the world unto Himself, not imputing their trespasses unto them." Romans 5:19)

Around the World

NAPLES, Italy, (UP)—A Roman Catholic priest today claimed support from Charles "Lucky" Luciano, one-time New York vice overlord, for plans to open a home for gangsters deported from the United States who cannot find honest work in Italy.

Father Michele Blandino Dela Croce revealed his plans to reporters last night. He said he won support for the scheme from Luciano, who was deported from the United States nearly 10 years ago. Luciano now runs a prosperous medical equipment store in Naples.

Hundreds of ex-gangsters have found it almost impossible to obtain honest work in Italy after they were deported from the United States. Things got so tough that former Luciano lieutenant Frank Frighenti once threatened to stage a march of 500 fellow hoodlums exiles on Rome. Police quickly squelched the idea.
